

- Interested in politics?
- Want to gain experience working on an election campaign?
- Interested in growing your network and building valuable connections?

If you are interested in any of the above, you might want to volunteer with Lorie Masters' campaign for D.C. Attorney General.

This is the first time that the D.C. Attorney General is being elected by the public. Don't miss the opportunity to participate in this historic election!

There are numerous volunteer opportunities available throughout the week:

- Put up posters or deliver lawn signs
- Call your friends who are DC voters and ask them to vote for Lorie
- Use social media to promote Lorie
- Office work such as data entry
